Bilal Rawat

Call: 1995

Bilal is recognised by the directories as a leading junior for inquests and inquiries. He acts in inquests involving deaths in custody, breaches of health and safety and allegations of medical error. He has extensive experience of public inquiries having been junior counsel to the Bloody Sunday Inquiry and represented former soldiers at the Al Sweady Inquiry. More recently Bilal acted for a corporate core participant at the Independent Inquiry into Child Sexual Abuse. He is currently junior counsel to the Grenfell Tower Inquiry. He has been a member of the Attorney General's Panel of Special Advocates since 2009 and of the Attorney General's A Panel since 2015.

Recommendations

"He was very sympathetic with our clients and impressed me in his dealing with the evidence in the hearing. He had excellent command of case papers which were voluminous and both factually and legally complex." (Inquests and Public Inquiries)
Chambers UK 2020

"I'm really impressed with how he dealt with difficult, emotional matters in a pleasant, balanced and accessible way." (Inquests and Public Inquiries)
Chambers UK 2020

"He's meticulous, and he has the ability to handle a very large amount of evidence and make sense of it, which is no mean feat." (Inquests and Public Inquiries)
